

OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR

William Draper Lewis Answers
Questions in Plain Manner

HE FAVORS AN 8 HOUR DAY

Washington Party Candidate for Governor Expresses Views on Important Matters Affecting the Welfare of the Workingmen—Approves the Passage of Wage Earners Compensation Act.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Publication was given by the News-Post, an afternoon paper, to replies made by William Draper Lewis, candidate for the Washington party nomination for governor, to questions concerning the attitude of Dean Lewis upon certain problems affecting labor.

The questions were pronounced by the editor of the News-Post, which espouses the cause of organized labor. The questions asked and the answers given by Dean Lewis are as follows:

Q.—Are you in favor of the organization of labor?

A.—This is very much like asking a man whether he is in favor of wearing clothes. Under modern industrial conditions it is just as essential for the laborer to organize in order to promote his welfare as it is for him to wear clothes. It is needless for me to say that I am in favor of both organization and clothes for labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of an eight-hour law for all workers?

Favors Eight-Hour Law.

A.—I am. In this connection, however, I wish to point out two things: First, that while I am in favor of an eight-hour law, I realize, as you must realize, the necessity of putting it in to operation rapidly, but not so suddenly as to disorganize business. Second, that while the general effect of an eight-hour law—and in many instances its immediate effect—will be to increase the manufacturer's output, because shorter hours result in increased efficiency of the worker; in some cases the output may for a time be decreased. Therefore, it is highly important to protect both the manufacturer and the workman from the unfair competition of other states which permit their employees to work longer hours.

For Compensation Act.

Q.—Would a liability and compensation act approved by the State Federation of Labor, a body which represents 500,000 wage-earners, have your support?

A.—I am in hearty favor of a workmen's compensation act and have been for years. On this subject I have spoken in my public announcement as follows:

"Losses incurred through accidents and diseases in the course of operation of a business should be as other costs of production, borne by the business, not by the workman. Pennsylvania should follow other states and adopt a workmen's compensation act. For the protection of both employer and employee, the act should provide an adequate system of insurance. At present, it should not apply to farm labor or domestic service."

Would Forbid Child Labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of a law forbidding the employment of children under 16 in industry?

A.—Yes. We should provide by law for the exclusion at once of children under 16 from the hazardous employment in which many are now engaged. After a given time 16 should become the age limit. In the meantime our education facilities should be enlarged and the principle embodied in the mothers' pension act be extended. I was one of those who drew the child labor act defeated by the senate in the last legislature, and also one of those who drew what is known as the Copley national child labor bill, now before congress. The subject is one of vital importance.

Workmen's Pension Act.

Q.—Are you in favor of the minimum wage?

A.—I am. I drafted the act introduced into the legislature in 1913 and have lost none of my enthusiasm for its enactment.

Q.—What is your opinion of a disabled workman's pension act?

A.—I am in favor of state insurance for aged and disabled persons.

A committee of the National Progressive Service has been working on the question of the proper standards for such legislation, which should be incorporated into such a law. The result of their labors has been placed in the hands of the legislative reference committee of the Progressive party, of which I am chairman. I believe a practical act on the subject can be drawn, and when it is it will have my hearty support."

PENNSYLVANIA ROMANCE

Story of the "Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home."

Pennsylvania's romances have not all been violent and tempestuous, although most of that series which the Sunday North American is now publishing are vivid with the glow of adventure. On April 26 will appear a story which has nothing melodramatic in it, but which is none the less fascinating. It has no tinging of romance, but it has a genuine touch of sentiment that is fully as absorbing as the pathos and tenderness without the usual distressing and disagreeable attendants.

"The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home," is the romantic story of two sweet-faced old ladies of Washington county, who waited vainly for their brother to return from the war. It is an intimate picture, full of gentleness and picturesque charm.

It is a story that is bound to be laid away in many a scrapbook in this part of the country, and copies will be hard to find after the first rush. Remember the title and date, "The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home," in the Sunday North American April 26.

PLANS FOR FOURTH ARE PROGRESSING

Driving Park Secured For The
Two-Day Celebration

At the meeting of the executive committee having in charge the celebration of the Fourth of July, in Fire company house No. 1, Tuesday evening, matters connected with the two-day celebration were discussed. It was reported by the finance committee that satisfactory progress is being made in the collection of funds.

The Driving park has been secured for the event, and Mr. Payne, the lessee, stated that as he would have a number of horses here this summer he would arrange for horse racing on July 3 and 4 for the benefit of the managers of the celebration. A Philadelphia balloon artist will be here and give exhibitions in parachute dropping. There will be a balloon ascension and fireworks at night at the park.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Charles L. Hollick Killed on Bald Eagle Valley Road.

Stepping in front of an approaching passenger train in East Tyrone yesterday morning about 10:20 o'clock, Charles L. Hollick, one of Tyrone's division's most capable young engineers met a tragic death. Engineer Hollick was in charge of one of the Bald Eagle Valley pushers, engaged in helping trains up the grade to Dix. While lying on the eastbound track for passenger train No. 51 to pass, Mr. Hollick crossed the main track to converse with a fellow engineer and it was on his way back to his own engine that he momentarily forgot that No. 51 was due. Death was instantaneous.

Deceased was born at Philipsburg May 26 1880, and was therefore almost 34 years of age. He was a son of John and Elizabeth Hollick. About ten years ago he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company as fireman and was promoted to extra freight engineer about two years ago. In 1905 he was united in marriage to Miss Maude B. Lukehart, who survives with two small children, Elizabeth and Thomas C. He also leaves his parents and two sisters, Mrs. John Sheriff and Miss Florence Hollick, of Philipsburg.

WAR IS NOW IN PROGRESS IN MEXICO

First American Blood Shed in Vera Cruz Tuesday

200 MEXICANS ARE KILLED

Dictator Huerta Practically Declares War Against United States

O'Shaughnessy, American Charge de Affairs, Given His Passports—Americans Seize a Large Consignment of Ammunition Intended for Huerta's Army—Americans in Possession the Custom House, Consulate, Railroad and Cable Offices—Vera Cruz Being Shelled to Dislodge
the Greasers who Fire From Housetops and Windows.

Special to the Progress.

Washington, April 22.—Dictator Huerta has asked for the recall of Charge d' Affaires O'Shaughnessy and his aides at Mexico City.

This announcement was made by a high government official this morning. The state department withheld comment on the announcement and did not indicate whether it would hand Senor Algara, the Mexican in charge here, his passports.

The demand for the recall of the envoy under such critical conditions as now prevail is practically equivalent to a declaration of war.

Full Power to Act.

President Wilson has been given full power to use the forces of United States in compelling Victoriano Huerta to make amends for insults to the American flag.

The final step in conferring authority was taken at 10:29 A. M. today when the house concurred in the resolution passed by the senate this morning after an all night session.

Vera Cruz Captured.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—American marines and sailors from the fleet of Rear Admiral Fletcher yesterday captured Vera Cruz. In the battle for possession of the city, four United States sailors were killed and about 20 wounded. The Mexicans lost 200 in killed and many in wounded and captured.

Firing began shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and at this writing is still continuing, in desultory fashion.

Machine Guns Used.

The main body of the Mexicans evacuated the barracks during the afternoon and retreated to the west.

The Americans had machine guns at all street intersections and raked the thoroughfares with the fire. Mexican soldiers and civilians on housetops and in windows responded.

The Prairie aided in the repulse of the Mexicans with the fire of her small-calibre guns.

The Dead.

GEORGE POINSETT, seaman, battleship Florida, Philadelphia.

JOHN SHOEMAKER, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DANIEL A. HAGGERTY, corporal, battleship Florida, Cambridge, Mass. Name of fourth man could not be learned.

The Wounded.

C. L. LEAHY, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

NATHAN SCHWARTZ, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

C. D. CAMERON, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. F. PLACE, seaman, battleship Florida, Newark, N. J.

EDWARD A. GIBBORNE, electrician, battleship Florida, Quincy, Mass.

D. D. McMILLAN, private, Second Marine regiment.

Maas Refuses Surrender.

Shortly after, word was sent again to General Gustavo Maas, commander of the Mexican troops, that unless resistance ceased, the big guns of the fleet would open fire and that then

the loss of life among his men would be terrific.

General Maas replied that compliance with the demand was impossible and asked the consul for a personal parley.

At 12:30 o'clock, however, the Federal garrison of 800 left the barracks and was scattered around the central portions of the city, on roofs, in second-story windows and streets intersections. Shortly after, firing began.

Citizens Aided Troops.

Americans were posted at all corners, working machine guns up the streets incessantly and taking "pot shots" at persons on the roofs. The Mexicans were being aided by citizens, who, hiding in their houses, shot from between blinds at the Americans.

The first American to be wounded was brought to the terminal station at 1 o'clock.

Ammunition Seized.

Information that President Huerta was counting on receiving from the steamship Ypiranga, of the Hamburg-American Line, which was due to arrive Tuesday, a consignment of ammunition, rifles and machine guns, was responsible for the occupation of the custom house somewhat earlier than might otherwise have been the case. The Ypiranga is still outside the harbor. She has on board, among other supplies, 10,000 rifles and 15,000,000 cartridges.

President Huerta has been making every effort to safeguard this consignment, and had given orders that it be unloaded and immediately placed on a special train drawn by two locomotives and rushed to the capital.

First Order for War.

Washington, April 22.—The first order for war with Mexico was sent to Admiral Fletcher, in command of the American ships off Vera Cruz. Anticipating the arrival of a Hamburg-American vessel with 15,000 rifles and 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition aboard for Huerta, President Wilson ordered the commanding officer at Vera Cruz to prevent the Mexican forces getting their hands on the munitions of war. Therefore the custom house was seized.

Tired and without patience at the delay and ordering of congress over the Flood resolution directing the president to use the armed forces of the nation to compel Huerta to respect the American flag, President Wilson, exercising his constitutional right, sent the orders to the commanding officer at the Mexican port.

It is against the international law to stop a vessel entering a port where a blockade does not exist. Therefore, as there was no blockade at Vera Cruz, it remained for the commanding officer to permit the vessel to enter the port and then take steps to prevent Huerta obtaining the munitions of war. Seizure of the custom house was the only course open to him.

Huerta Shows Teeth.

Huerta on learning of the intention of President Wilson to stop his shipment of arms showed his teeth for the first time. He ordered his local commanding officer at Vera Cruz, General Maas, to station armed forces with machine guns on the islands near the harbor at Vera Cruz and resist any attempt to land American forces. Evidently expected a clash between American marines and Huerta's troops.

Railroad Bridge the Object.

The first object after the landing of American marines was to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz. This is the key to the route to the capital.

Secretary Daniels, Rear Admiral Victor Blue, his chief counselor at the present time; Secretary of State Bryan and Boaz Long, head of the state department bureau of Latin-American affairs, were in almost constant communication all morning. They were concerned with the big shipment of arms and ammunition known to have reached Vera Cruz harbor.

The reason for this haste was made very plain by the admission that a large consignment of field artillery and ammunition is expected to be landed at Vera Cruz, consigned to Huerta at Mexico City.

Artillery From Germany.

This ammunition and the artillery come from Germany, and it is stated that the artillery is of the best modern type, which might prove of great help to Huerta should an expedition be sent against him.

Unless the president is authorized to act and announces that a blockade is in effect there is no way in which this ammunition and these field guns can be kept from Huerta's hands.

Huerta Always Defiant.

It is held by many members of congress that the president has overemphasized Huerta and underemphasized outrages against Americans. The president's slogan, "Huerta must go!" met with no popular shout of approval. Huerta has loomed up at all times in his defiance of the United States and has forced much hostile sympathy for his stand. Some members of congress insist that had the executive seized on the Vergara incident and demanded the right to use the army and navy to avenge that and previous murders and outrages there could have been no quibbling. But making Huerta the chief object of reprisals could not force unanimous support from congress.

Activity of Army and Navy.

Meanwhile the activity at army and navy headquarters continues. Secretary of the Navy Daniels was in touch with Admiral Badger's fleet and was keeping the admiral posted on the developments here. However, he made public no orders, and it was stated none would be published until after action had actually been taken. An embargo has been laid on the wireless of the battleships speeding south. While they can report their position no word will be permitted to be sent of any action that may take place until that action is completed.

It is explained that when the embargo is placed on Mexican ports it will not be announced publicly until all the nations of the world through their diplomatic representatives here are informed of the action and asked to have their commerce respect it.

MINES ARE PLACED IN HARBOR AT TAMPICO

Warnings From London Are Sent to Admiral Mayo.

Washington, April 22.—Warnings were received here from London that the harbor at Tampico had been filled with mines by Huerta's forces for the purpose of blowing up the American battleships should they attempt to enter the port. The warnings were at once communicated to Admiral Mayo, who is in command there pending the arrival of the Atlantic fleet under Admiral Badger. Extreme precaution will be exercised to prevent harm befalling an American vessel.

Everything at Tampico is reported calm pending the arrival of the fleet, which is speeding southward under full speed.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—General Huerta had his local commander, General Gustavo Maas, post strong forces with machine guns on the islands before the city. They are under orders to resist to the last ditch the landing of the American marines.

This order from Huerta came upon the heels of directions to the navy to land marines to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz, which is considered a key position on the route to the capital. Huerta planned fight as soon as he heard of the order, and the directions to General Maas immediately followed.

So rapid was the compliance with the order from Huerta that the commander of the port sent in boats under the cover of darkness the major portion of the troops recently brought here from the capital out to the islands. They went in the early morning hours, taking along the machine guns and much ammunition.

Closest Ever.

They were discussing horse racing. "I guess," observed the Yankee, "I've seen the closest race ever run, for I once saw a horse adjudged winner by a tongue's length."

"Is that so," drawled the Englishman. "Well, I've seen a closer race than that. I lived two years in Scotland."—Cleveland Leader.

GREAT GROWTH OF A. M. E. CHURCH

Thousands of Churches And Million Adherents

OPENING OF THE CONFERENCE

Pittsburg Body in Session in West Side M. E. church—Judge Bell and Mayor Callahan Welcome Delegates to Clearfield—Dr. Scott's Plan for Justice for the Negro.

The 24th annual session of the Pittsburgh district conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church opened Tuesday afternoon in the West Side M. E. church. The A. M. E. church, of which Rev. A. Q. Norton is pastor, has been undergoing extensive repairs and was not in condition to entertain the conference. The trustees of the West Side M. E. church gladly gave their edifice for the conference sessions, under the circumstances.

Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., of Pittsburgh, district superintendent, presided. Almost all of the churches in the district were represented at the opening meeting, and many visitors were present from Curwensville and other nearby towns.

Considerable preliminary business, including the appointment of committees and reports from churches, was carried out at the afternoon session.

Church's Great Growth.

The evening session commenced with a half-hour of song, conducted by Rev. D. H. Brown and Rev. A. E. Moore.

In his opening remarks, Rev. Askew told of the remarkable growth of the A. M. E. church. There are organizations in every state, with thousands of churches, several missionary bishops, and one million adherents.

Robert Callahan, mayor of the city of Clearfield, was introduced, and made a hearty address of welcome, extending the keys of the city to the visitors. Rev. G. T. Smith, D. D., of Scranton, formerly a pastor at this place, responded.

Judge Singleton Bell was next introduced and made an impressive address, assuring the visitors that he was greatly interested in their advancement.

An Eloquent Address.

The Rev. Dr. H. B. Bender, of Trinity, was next introduced, and spoke feelingly of his regard for the colored men and women who were struggling so heroically for the moral and spiritual advancement of their race.

Rev. P. A. Scott, D. D., of Pittsburgh, one of the really big men of the conference, responded, and in simple, eloquent words thanked the visitors for their words of welcome. In listening to Dr. Scott there came to those who were present a realization of the changed conditions of the last century.

Dr. Scott, a man of strong personality and fine appearance, told of how he had stood at the foot of the auction block when his mother was sold to the highest bidder, while he himself was a slave.

Appeal to Mothers.

"Don't teach your children to dislike us," said Dr. Scott, to the mothers who were present, "don't tell them that the 'big black man' or the 'nigger' will get them if they are naughty."

Responses were made from the laity of the church. Rev. Norton, pastor of the local church, told the visitors that it was a pleasure to welcome them to Clearfield, a beautiful, historic and progressive town.

A strong sermon was preached by Rev. C. J. Powell, D. D., of Williamsport, this being followed by an impressive altar service in charge of Dr. Scott.

After the adjournment of this session, the visitors were invited to the church basement, where the ladies had prepared an excellent luncheon.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions are being held today. Tonight's session commences at 7:30. Conference will adjourn Friday evening.

Seized With a Stroke.

BEGGING FOR AID.

In a number of the 'congressional
districts of this state the followers
of Penrose advance the proposition
that as the Washington party cannot
hope to elect its own candidates it
should support the Penrose candidates. Quite logical, from the standpoint of the Penrose machine. These champions of special privilege seem
to forget that the Washington party
was the outgrowth of antagonism to
the Penrose machine and that the Washington party bases its claim for
support upon the fact that its principles are wholly different from the principles of the Republican party.

The Republican papers proclaim in
big letters what they are pleased to
state is the falling away of the Washington party vote. But the wish is father to the thought with the Penrose followers. They would be pleased if what they so blatantly assert
might prove true, but because they know they are telling falsehoods they stand with the Washington party to abandon its principles and refrain
from entering the congressional contests. These Penrose machine leaders are anxious to have members of the Washington party vote for Republican congressional candidates, but
are not willing to acknowledge that
the Washington party is a factor with which the Republican party must contend this year.

No Washington party voter is so
dull of comprehension or so lost to
a sense of duty as to be beguiled in-
to believing that Penroseism is a good thing for the state or persuaded into supporting Penrose's candidates for congress. It is the intention of the Washington party to place candidates for congress in all of the
districts of the state, and these candidates will be men who will fight Penroseism and special privilege upon every opportunity. And not until the Washington party has swept every
vestige of the corrupt influences of Penroseism from the commonwealth
will it feel that it has performed its duty toward the people of Pennsylvania.

KEEP CITIZENS AT HOME.

Last year the Fourth of July was a very quiet day in Clearfield. There was no celebration here, and hundreds
of citizens went to other towns to
spend the day and witness celebrations. Many of these people were greatly disappointed because in the
other towns there was very little amusement. These disappointed citizens declared that it was a shame
that Clearfield did not possess patriotism and enterprise enough to celebrate the Fourth in an appropriate
manner.

This year the firemen determined
that they would provide amusements
of such a splendid character that no
citizen would have an excuse for going elsewhere on the Fourth. Already enough is known of the plans
of the firemen's committee who
entered into the project to know
that the Fourth of July celebration
this year will exceed in number and
variety of attractions anything ever
produced in any town in this section
of the state. In this purpose the various committees should have the cooperation of every citizen of Clear-

able bartenders to more readily throw

The first thing the taxpayers think
of when they hear of a murder is the expense that will be saddled on the

ers.

zen dies you look around and see a

might have been more readily spared.

iting the throwing of paper and other

CLEANUP DAY

Board of Health Issues Notice to the Clearfield Citizens.

The Board of Health has set Saturday, April 25, as the date for Clear-
field citizens to clean up their premises and place Clearfield in a spick
and span condition. On or before that date every citizen should clean up
his or her premises, removing and disposing of everything that would have a tendency to make the premises look unsightly or in any way
would become unsanitary or create
any unhealthful condition. Clearfield
has earned the reputation of being one of the healthiest towns in the state, due in part to the earnest efforts of its citizens to make it so.
Remember the day and the date and
your duty as a good citizen.

After the date set for the general
cleanup any condition in the borough found unsanitary will immediately be declared a nuisance and corrected by the proper authorities at the expense of the maintainer, in addition

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back
hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat
regularly can make a mistake by
flushing the kidneys occasionally,
says a well-known authority. Meat
forms uric acid which clogs the
kidney pores so they sluggishly filter
or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness,
bladder disorders comes from sluggish
kidneys

The moment you feel dull ache in
the kidneys or your back hurts, or if
the urine is cloudy, offensive, full
of sediment, irregular of passage or
attended by a sensation of scalding,
get about four ounces of Jad Salts
from any reliable pharmacy and take
a tablespoonful in a glass of water
before breakfast for a few days and
your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined
with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and
stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it
no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-
not injure; makes a delightful effe-
rescent lithia-water drink which all
regular meat eaters should take now
and then to keep the kidneys clean
and the blood pure, thereby avoiding
serious kidney complications.

What are you going to do with your last Season's Tires ?

Bring them in and let us look 'em over carefully—
we may be able to save those old ones. We know of many casings that have been sold to the junk dealer
that could have been repaired by an expert vulcanizer.
Yes, and given the owner at least another thousand miles or two of good service.

You don't want to discard your old tires by outside appearances—you may be throwing away actual dollars. We will honestly tell you if you need a new tire or if our Vulcanizing Plant can repair it. It is certainly to our interest to tell you the absolute truth and we will not tell you a repair can save a tire when the best move would be to buy a new casing. You can depend on our repairs—they're done with the best material, by a man who knows his work from A to Z.

"Excuse Me."

With a record of nine months at the Gaiety Theatre in New York, and having every feature which caused it to be hailed at the best farce theatres had been offered in years, "Excuse Me", the Rupert Hughes play which has the subtitle of "A Pullman Carnival," comes to the New Opera house, Friday, April 24, for one night only. As a play "Excuse Me" has given to Rupert Hughes an eminence as a writer of farce that is shared by no contemporary playwright. It is emphatically a novelty. Throughout its action there is not one instance of mistaken identity, no male person is required to masquerade in feminine garments, and none of the other age-old and now tiresome rules for provoking laughter in this sort of play has been observed. The subtitle is aptly descriptive.

Mr. Hughes has taken a score and a half persons from everyday American life, placed them aboard a Pullman sleeper on an Overland flyer bound from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, and let things happen. And the things that happen, while they are perfectly logical in their origin and their sequence, keep up laughter for three acts. There are a score of contrasting types in the Pullman's passenger roster and every one is interesting because of himself as well as because of his relation to his fellows. The action of the play is rapid and changeable. The fact that it kept New Yorkers laughing for nine consecutive months is a good argument as to its merits, to which can be added the runs of six months in Chicago, and four months in Boston. Mail orders with money enclosed received now and filled in the order they are received.

WOMEN REFUGEES

SAFE AT VERA CRUZ

Americans Do Not Fear Hostile
Outbreak There.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—With eighty three American refugees, mostly women and children, on board the steamship Esperanza of the Ward line which has been chartered by the United States government, it is expected that the number will be greatly augmented upon the arrival of refugees from the City of Mexico and other inland points where conditions are such in the present crisis that American lives may be imperiled.

In this city there are about 200 Americans, although ordinarily there are seldom more than fifty. Most of those now here came so as to be in a position to obtain refuge on board steamships in case of serious disturbances or an outbreak against Americans. In the City of Mexico there are more than 700 and about 400 at Guadalupe.

According to the meager news dispatches received here from the City of Mexico the Americans there are not greatly perturbed by the prospects of a clash between the two countries, and only a few of the men are making final preparations to flee. The women, though, appear desirous of getting away.

The Americans there have a feeling of security. The fact that General Huerta has issued strict orders against any unfriendly act toward Americans has strengthened the feeling of security. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has, however, as a result of orders received from Washington instructed the Americans of the advisability of leaving.

NEED OF NIGHT POLICE OFFICER

Burgess May Ask Authority to Appoint One Later

SOME PETTY THEIVING HERE

Extra Patrolmen Would Relieve Regular Force and Enable the Latter to Put an End to the Invasion of the Town by Insolent Tramps, a Menace to Women.

Barring a murder now and then, Clearfield is a quiet, peaceful town. The citizens, as a rule, are inclined to attend to their own business. But it cannot be expected that this condition will continue through the summer as indications point to the visitation of numerous tramps as soon as the warm weather makes it debatable. Already a number of the army of unemployed have made Clearfield their objective point, making their rendezvous at the brick yards and other places on the outskirts of town and calling on housewives for victuals, and also several petty robberies have been reported.

Clearfield has two policemen, and the burgess is of the opinion that there should be a man placed on the streets at night to watch for these marauders.

A Menace to Women.

The tramps who come to Clearfield arrive on freight trains in the lower end of the town. They gather at the brick works and sally forth in search of food or anything else they may pick up at hours of the day when they know the man of the house is absent.

Housewives residing north of Locust street are almost constantly annoyed by dirty, insolent hoboes, who seem to know that they will not be molested so long as they remain off the main streets of the town. Some of these tramps remain in town several days at a time, and their presence here is a menace to the women of Clearfield.

Need of Night Patrolman.

Burgess Callahan has been considering the question of asking borough council to authorize him in the near future to appoint a night patrolman,

good man who would keep watch and guard over the property of the citizens from midnight until daylight. It is the belief of the burgess and some councilmen that if there was a night patrolman on duty it would relieve the regular policemen of much of their labor, and especially permit them to retire earlier at night and thus give them more time in which to patrol the streets in the daytime, especially those streets the residences of which seem to be the objective point of the hungry hoboes.

Some Petty Thieving.

Several cases of petty thieving have been reported, and it is expected that unless better protection is provided the homes of the citizens there will be an epidemic of small robberies in this town this summer. Some of this stealing is done by tramps, without a doubt, but it is believed that some of the aliens in Clearfield are implicated in some of the robberies. The night policeman, if he is the right kind of man, would be able to round up some of the thieves and thus break up the offenses and send the offenders to prison. The citizens of Clearfield are entitled to full protection from midnight thievery.

CLOVER HILL.

Joseph Schrot and wife, of Buffalo, were home last week.

Miss Emma Schickling, who is employed in Clearfield, was home over Sunday.

Wm. Wertz, of Granplan, was the guest of Cecil Read Thursday night.

Alfred Aughenbaugh, Jr., bought the Eliza Rowles property and is erecting a new house on the same.

Guy Bloom is still sick in the hospital. His uncle, Ruben Bloom, has come to take his place on the farm.

Misses Elma and Edna McCracken visited at Blue Ball the last of the week.

A number of the people from this vicinity attended the Junior play in the opera house Friday evening. All were well pleased.

Milton Moore, from Greensburg, bought the Leonard farm and moved his family there last week.

One of the hens on the Stone house farm laid an egg one day last week.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy.

that measured 3 1/2 inches long by 5 1/2 inches around and weighted 4 ounces.

Miss Katherine Schickling, from Pine Grove, passed the eighth grade examination in Glen Richey. She expects to attend school in Glen Richey this summer.

This warm spring weather is making everything beautiful. The grass is beginning to show green, the buds are breaking on the trees and the robins and blue birds sing their sweet melodies through the day, while the little frogs bring in their share of the concert in the evenings.

Amos Read and family spent Saturday evening at the home of W. R. Hummel, in Clearfield. Friday was Mr. Read's birthday and Saturday was Miss Almeda Hummel's. The two families celebrated the two birthdays together and a very pleasant evening was spent and a fine supper served.

Following is the program for the Lawrence Grange Saturday evening, May 2: Song No. 128, Grange Melodies; recitation, Joseph Rowles; reading, Allen Brown; music, Grange orchestra; dialogue, The Saloon Must Go; reading, Grange Booster, Olive Hummel; lunch, ice cream and cake.

OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR

William Draper Lewis Answers
Questions in Plain Manner

HE FAVORS AN 8 HOUR DAY

Washington Party Candidate for Governor Expresses Views on Important Matters Affecting the Welfare of the Workingmen—Approves the Passage of Wage Earners Compensation Act.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Publication was given by the News-Post, an afternoon paper, to replies made by William Draper Lewis, candidate for the Washington party nomination for governor, to questions concerning the attitude of Dean Lewis upon certain problems affecting labor.

The questions were pronounced by the editor of the News-Post, which espouses the cause of organized labor. The questions asked and the answers given by Dean Lewis are as follows:

Q.—Are you in favor of the organization of labor?

A.—This is very much like asking a man whether he is in favor of wearing clothes. Under modern industrial conditions it is just as essential for the laborer to organize in order to promote his welfare as it is for him to wear clothes. It is needless for me to say that I am in favor of both organization and clothes for labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of an eight-hour law for all workers?

Favors Eight-Hour Law.

A.—I am. In this connection, however, I wish to point out two things: First, that while I am in favor of an eight-hour law, I realize, as you must realize, the necessity of putting it in to operation rapidly, but not so suddenly as to disorganize business. Second, that while the general effect of an eight-hour law—and in many instances its immediate effect—will be to increase the manufacturer's output, because shorter hours result in increased efficiency of the worker; in some cases the output may for a time be decreased. Therefore, it is highly important to protect both the manufacturer and the workman from the unfair competition of other states which permit their employees to work longer hours.

For Compensation Act.

Q.—Would a liability and compensation act approved by the State Federation of Labor, a body which represents 500,000 wage-earners, have your support?

A.—I am in hearty favor of a workmen's compensation act and have been for years. On this subject I have spoken in my public announcements as follows:

"Losses incurred through accidents and diseases in the course of operation of a business should be as other costs of production, borne by the business, not by the workman. Pennsylvania should follow other states and adopt a workmen's compensation act. For the protection of both employer and employee, the act should provide an adequate system of insurance. At present, it should not apply to farm labor or domestic service."

Would Forbid Child Labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of a law forbidding the employment of children under 16 in industry?

A.—Yes. We should provide by law for the exclusion at once of children under 16 from the hazardous employment in which many are now engaged. After a given time 16 should become the age limit. In the meantime our education facilities should be enlarged and the principle embodied in the mothers' pension act extended. I was one of those who drew the child labor act defeated by the senate in the last legislature, and also one of those who drew what is known as the Copley national child labor bill, now before congress. The subject is one of vital importance.

Workmen's Pension Act.

Q.—Are you in favor of the minimum wage?

A.—I am. I drafted the act introduced into the legislature in 1913 and have lost none of my enthusiasm for its enactment.

Q.—What is your opinion of a disabled workman's pension act?

A.—I am in favor of state insurance for aged and disabled persons.

A committee of the National Progressive Service has been working on the question of the proper standards for such legislation, which should be incorporated into such a law. The result of their labors has been placed in the hands of the legislative reference committee of the Progressive party, of which I am chairman. I believe a practical act on the subject can be drawn, and when it is it will have my hearty support."

PENNSYLVANIA ROMANCE

Story of the "Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home."

Pennsylvania's romances have not all been violent and tempestuous, although most of that series which the Sunday North American is now publishing are vivid with the glow of adventure. On April 26 will appear a story which has nothing melodramatic in it, but which is none the less fascinating. It has no tingling climaxes, but it has a genuine touch of sentiment that is fully as absorbing. It has pathos and tenderness without the usual distressing and disagreeable attendants.

"The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home" is the romantic story of two sweet-faced old ladies of Washington county, who waited vainly for their brother to return from the war. It is an intimate picture, full of gentleness and picturesque charm.

It is a story that is bound to be laid away in many a scrapbook in this part of the country, and copies will be hard to find after the first rush. Remember the title and date, "The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home," in the Sunday North American April 26.

PLANS FOR FOURTH ARE PROGRESSING

Driving Park Secured For The
Two-Day Celebration

At the meeting of the executive committee having in charge the celebration of the Fourth of July, in Fire company house No. 1, Tuesday evening, matters connected with the two-day celebration were discussed. It was reported by the finance committee that satisfactory progress is being made in the collection of funds.

The driving park has been secured for the event, and Mr. Payne, the lessee, stated that as he would have a number of horses here this summer he would arrange for horse racing on July 3 and 4 for the benefit of the managers of the celebration. A Philadelphia balloon artist will be here and give exhibitions in parachute dropping. There will be a balloon ascension and fireworks at night at the park.

Up to this time four bands of music have been engaged. Other arrangements for the big celebration were discussed and will be reported later.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Charles L. Hollick Killed on Bald Eagle Valley Road.

Stepping in front of an approaching passenger train in East Tyrone yesterday morning about 10:20 o'clock, Charles L. Hollick, one of Tyrone's division's most capable young engineers met a tragic death. Engineer Hollick was in charge of one of the Bald Eagle Valley pushers, engaged in helping trains up the grade to Dix. While lying on the eastbound track for passenger train No. 51 to pass, Mr. Hollick crossed the main track to converse with a fellow engineer and it was on his way back to his own engine that he momentarily forgot that No. 51 was due. Death was instantaneous.

Deceased was born at Philipsburg May 26 1880, and was therefore almost 34 years of age. He was a son of John and Elizabeth Hollick. About ten years ago he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company as a fireman and was promoted to extra freight engineer about two years ago. In 1905 he was united in marriage to Miss Maude B. Lukehart, who survives with two small children Elizabeth and Thomas C. He also leaves his parents and two sisters. Mrs. John Sheriff and Miss Florence Hollick, of Philipsburg.

Washington, April 22:—Dictator Huerta has asked for the recall of Charge d' Affaires O'Shaughnessy and his aides at Mexico City.

This announcement was made by a high government official this morning. The state department withheld comment on the announcement and did not indicate whether it would hand Senor Algara, the Mexican in charge here, his passports.

The demand for the recall of the envoy under such critical conditions as now prevail is practically equivalent to a declaration of war.

Full Power to Act.

President Wilson has been given full power to use the forces of United States in compelling Victoriano Huerta to make amends for insults to the American flag.

The final step in conferring authority was taken at 10:29 A. M. today when the house concurred in the resolution passed by the senate this morning after an all night session.

Vera Cruz Captured.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—American marines and sailors from the fleet of Rear Admiral Fletcher yesterday captured Vera Cruz. In the battle for possession of the city, four United States sailors were killed and about 20 wounded. The Mexicans lost 200 in killed and many in wounded and captured.

Firing began shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and at this writing is still continuing, in desultory fashion.

Machine Guns Used.

The main body of the Mexicans evacuated the barracks during the afternoon and retreated to the west.

The Americans had machine guns at all street intersections and raked the thoroughfares with the fire. Mexican soldiers and civilians on housetops and in windows responded.

The Prairie aided in the repulse of the Mexicans with the fire of her small-calibre guns.

The Dead.

GEORGE POINSETT, seaman, battleship Florida, Philadelphia.

JOHN SHOEMAKER, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DANIEL A. HAGGERTY, corporal, battleship Florida, Cambridge, Mass. Name of fourth man could not be learned.

The Wounded.

C. L. LEAHY, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

NATHAN SCHWARTZ, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

C. D. CAMERON, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. F. PLACE, seaman, battleship Florida, Newark, N. J.

EDWARD A. GIBBORNE, electrician, battleship Florida, Quincy, Mass.

D. D. McMILLAN, private, Second Marine regiment.

Maas Refuses Surrender.

Shortly after, word was sent again to General Gustavo Maas, commander of the Mexican troops, that unless resistance ceased, the big guns of the fleet would open fire and that then

the loss of life among his men would be terrific.

General Maas replied that compliance with the demand was impossible and asked the consul for a personal parley.

At 12:30 o'clock, however, the Federal garrison of 800 left the barracks and was scattered around the central portions of the city, on roofs, in second-story windows and streets intersections. Shortly after, firing began.

Citizens Aided Troops.

Americans were posted at all corners, working machine guns up the streets incessantly and taking "pot shots" at persons on the roofs. The Mexicans were being aided by citizens, who, hiding in their houses, shot from between blinds at the Americans.

The first American to be wounded was brought to the terminal station at 1 o'clock.

Ammunition Seized.

Information that President Huerta was counting on receiving from the steamship Ypiranga, of the Hamburg-American Line, which was due to arrive Tuesday, a consignment of ammunition, rifles and machine guns, was responsible for the occupation of the custom house somewhat earlier than might otherwise have been the case. The Ypiranga is still outside the harbor. She has on board, among other supplies, 10,000 rifles and 15,000,000 cartridges.

President Huerta has been making every effort to safeguard this consignment, and had given orders that it be unloaded and immediately placed on a special train drawn by two locomotives and rushed to the capital.

First Order for War.

Washington, April 22.—The first order for war with Mexico was sent to Admiral Fletcher, in command of the American ships off Vera Cruz. Anticipating the arrival of a Hamburg-American vessel with 15,000 rifles and 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition aboard for Huerta, President Wilson ordered the commanding officer at Vera Cruz to prevent the Mexican forces getting their hands on the munitions of war. Therefore the custom house was seized.

Tired and without patience at the delay and dickerings of congress over the Flood resolution directing the president to use the armed forces of the nation to compel Huerta to respect the American flag, President Wilson, exercising his constitutional right, sent the orders to the commanding officer at the Mexican port.

It is against the international law to stop a vessel entering a port where a blockade does not exist. Therefore, as there was no blockade at Vera Cruz, it remained for the commanding officer to permit the vessel to enter the port and then take steps to prevent Huerta obtaining the munitions of war. Seizure of the custom house was the only course open to him.

Huerta Shows Teeth.

Huerta on learning of the intention of President Wilson to stop his shipment of arms showed his teeth for the first time. He ordered his local commanding officer at Vera Cruz, General Maas, to station armed forces with machine guns on the islands near the harbor at Vera Cruz and resist any attempt to land American forces. Everybody expected a clash between American marines and Huerta's troops.

Railroad Bridge the Object.

The first object after the landing of American marines was to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz. This is the key to the route to the capital.

Secretary Daniels, Rear Admiral Victor Blue, his chief counselor at the present time; Secretary of State Bryan and Bonz Long, head of the state department bureau of Latin-American affairs, were in almost constant communication all morning. They were concerned with the big shipment of arms and ammunition known to have reached Vera Cruz harbor.

The reason for this haste was made very plain by the admission that a large consignment of field artillery and ammunition is expected to be landed at Vera Cruz, consigned to Huerta at Mexico City.

Artillery From Germany.

This ammunition and the artillery come from Germany, and it is stated that the artillery is of the best modern type, which might prove of great help to Huerta should an expedition be sent against him.

Unless the president is authorized to act and announces that a blockade is in effect there is no way in which this ammunition and these field guns can be kept from Huerta's hands.

Huerta Always Defiant.

It is held by many members of congress that the president has overemphasized Huerta and underemphasized outrages against Americans. The president's slogan, "Huerta must go" met with no popular shout of approval.

Huerta has loomed up at all times in his defiance of the United States and has forced much hostile sympathy for his stand. Some members of congress insist that had the executive seized on the Vergara incident and demanded the right to use the army and navy to avenge that and previous murders and outrages there could have been no quibbling. But making Huerta the chief object of reprisals could not force unanimous support from congress.

Activity of Army and Navy.

Meanwhile the activity at army and navy headquarters continues. Secretary of the Navy Daniels was in touch with Admiral Badger's fleet and was keeping the admiral posted on the developments here. However, he made public no orders, and it was stated none would be published until after action had actually been taken. An embargo has been laid on the wireless of the battleships speeding south. While they can report their position no word will be permitted to be sent of any action that may take place until that action is completed.

It is explained that when the embargo is placed on Mexican ports it will not be announced publicly until all the nations of the world through their diplomatic representatives here are informed of the action and asked to have their commerce respect it.

MINES ARE PLACED IN HARBOR AT TAMPICO

Warnings From London Are Sent to Admiral Mayo.

Washington, April 22.—Warnings were received here from London that the harbor at Tampico had been filled with mines by Huerta's forces for the purpose of blowing up the American battleships should they attempt to enter the port. The warnings were at once communicated to Admiral Mayo, who is in command there pending the arrival of the Atlantic fleet under Admiral Badger. Extreme precaution will be exercised to prevent harm befalling an American vessel.

Everything at Tampico is reported calm pending the arrival of the fleet, which is speeding southward under full speed.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—General Huerta and his local commander, General Gustavo Maas, post strong forces with machine guns on the islands before the city. They are under orders to resist to the last ditch the landing of the American marines.

This order from Huerta came upon the heels of directions to the navy to land marines to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz, which is considered a key position on the route to the capital. Huerta planned fight as soon as he heard of the order, and the directions to General Maas immediately followed.

So rapid was the compliance with the order from Huerta that the commander of the port sent in boats under the cover of darkness the major portion of the troops recently brought here from the capital out to the islands. They went in the early morning hours, taking along the machine guns and much ammunition.

Closest Ever.

They were discussing horse racing. "I guess," observed the Yankee, "I've seen the closest race ever run, for I once saw a horse adjudged winner by a tongue's length."

"Is that so," drawled the Englishman. "Well, I've seen a closer race than that. I lived two years in Scotland."—Cleveland Leader.

GREAT GROWTH OF A.M.E. CHURCH

Thousands of Churches And One Million Adherents

OPENING OF THE CONFERENCE

Pittsburg Body in Session in West Side M. E. church—Judge Bell and Mayor Callahan Welcome Delegates to Clearfield—Dr. Scott's Plea for Justice for the Negro.

The 24th annual session of the Pittsburgh district conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church opened Tuesday afternoon in the West Side M. E. church. The A. M. E. church, of which Rev. A. Q. Norton is pastor, has been undergoing extensive repairs and was not in condition to entertain the conference. The trustees of the West Side M. E. church gladly gave their edifice for the conference sessions, under the circumstances.

Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., of Pittsburgh, district superintendent, presided. Almost all of the churches in the district were represented at the evening meeting, and many visitors were present from Curwensville and other nearby towns.

Considerable preliminary business, including the appointment of committees and reports from churches, was carried out at the afternoon session.

Church's Great Growth.

The evening session commenced with a half-hour of song, conducted by Rev. D. H. Brown and Rev. A. E. Moore.

In his opening remarks, Rev. Askew told of the remarkable growth of the A. M. E. church. There are organizations in every state, with thousands of churches, several missionary bishops, and one million adherents.

Robert Callahan, mayor of the city of Clearfield, was introduced, and made a hearty address of welcome, extending the keys of the city to the visitors. Rev. G. T. Smith, D.D., of Scranton, formerly a pastor at this place, responded.

Judge Singleton Bell was next introduced and made an impressive address, assuring the visitors that he was greatly interested in their advancement.

An Eloquent Address.

The Rev. Dr. H. B. Bender, of Trinity, was next introduced, and spoke feelingly of his regard for the colored men and women who were struggling so heroically for the moral and spiritual advancement of their race.

Rev. P. A. Scott, D. D., of Pittsburgh, one of the really big men of the conference, responded, and in simple, eloquent words thanked the visitors for their words of welcome. In listening to Dr. Scott there came to those who were present a realization of the changed conditions of the last century.

Dr. Scott, a man of strong personality and fine appearance, told of how he had stood at the foot of the auction block when his mother was sold to the highest bidder, while he himself was a slave.

Appeal to Mothers.

"Don't teach your children to dislike us," said Dr. Scott to the mothers who were present, "don't tell them that the 'big black man' or the 'nigger' will get them if they are naughty."

Responses were made from the laity of the church. Rev. Norton, pastor of the local church, told the visitors that it was a pleasure to welcome them to Clearfield, a beautiful, historic and progressive town.

A strong sermon was preached by Rev. C. J. Powell, D. D., of Williamsport, this being followed by an impressive altar service in charge of Dr. Scott.

After the adjournment of this session, the visitors were invited to the church basement, where the ladies had prepared an excellent luncheon.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions are being held today. Tonight's session commences at 7:30. Conference will adjourn Friday evening.

Seized With a Stroke.

Mrs. Middleton, of Philipsburg, who has been helping care for her sister, Mrs. E. M. Shaw, was seized with a stroke Sunday.

BEGGING FOR AID.

In a number of the congressional
districts of this state the followers
of Penrose advance the proposition
that as the Washington party cannot
hope to elect its own candidates it
should support the Penrose candidates. Quite logical, from the standpoint of the Penrose machine. These
champions of special privilege seem
to forget that the Washington party
was the outgrowth of antagonism to
the Penrose machine and that the Washington party bases its claim for support upon the fact that its principles are wholly different from the practices of the Republican party.

The Republican papers proclaim in
big letters what they are pleased to
state is the falling away of the Washington party vote. But the wish is
father to the thought with the Pen-
rose followers. They would be pleased if what they so blatantly assert
might prove true, but because they
know they are telling falsehoods they lead with the Washington party to abandon its principles and refrain
from entering the congressional contests. These Penrose machine leaders are anxious to have members of
the Washington party vote for Republican congressional candidates, but
are not willing to acknowledge that
the Washington party is a factor with
which the Republican party must
 contend this year.

No Washington party voter is so
dull of comprehension or so lost to
a sense of duty as to be beguiled in-
to believing that Penroseism is a
good thing for the state or persuaded into supporting Penrose's candidates for congress. It is the intention of the Washington party to place candidates for congress in all of the
districts of the state, and these candidates will be men who will fight Pen-
roseism and special privilege upon every opportunity. And not until the Washington party has swept every
vestige of the corrupt influences of Penroseism from the commonwealth
will it feel that it has performed its duty toward the people of Pennsylvania.

KEEP CITIZENS AT HOME.

Last year the Fourth of July was
a very quiet day in Clearfield. There
was no celebration here, and hundreds
of citizens went to other towns to
spend the day and witness celebrations. Many of these people were greatly disappointed because in the
other towns there was very little
amusement. These disappointed citizens declared that it was a shame
that Clearfield did not possess patriotism and enterprise enough to celebrate the Fourth in an appropriate
manner.

This year the firemen determined
that they would provide amusements
of such a splendid character that no
citizen would have an excuse for going elsewhere on the Fourth. Already enough is known of the plans
of the firemen and other citizens who
entered into the project to know
that the Fourth of July celebration
this year will exceed in number and
variety of attractions anything ever
produced in any town in this section
of the state. In this purpose the various committees should have the cooperation of every citizen of Clear-

The United States senate should
not permit the Mexican incident to cause it to forget its most important
business of defeating President Wilson's pet scheme to turn over the Panama canal to Great Britain.

It is announced that all hotel doors
must open outwards, but whether for
the greater safety of guests or to enable bartenders to more readily throw
out obstreperous patrons is not stated.

The first thing the taxpayers think
of when they hear of a murder is the
expense that will be saddled on the county in trying the alleged murder-
ers.

Every time a good and useful citizen dies you look around and see a score of cumberers of the earth who
might have been more readily spared.

A whole lot of would-be heroes
are always ready to appropriate to
themselves the credit which belongs
to others for performing a brave act.

After cleanup day the law prohib-
iting the throwing of paper and other rubbish into streets should be enforced.

For this postponement of garden
making the man with a "misery in
his back" is profoundly thankful.

The seed catalogues will have to
be revised to suit the changeable
weather of such springs as this.

Spring is here, sure enough. The frogs have begun to sing their bac-
chanalian songs of a night.

The sheriff's office sure does contain two officers who know their duty and are not afraid to perform it.

Indications point to even a greater split in the ranks of the local Democracy.

CLEANUP DAY

Board of Health Issues Notice to the Clearfield Citizens.

The Board of Health has set Saturday, April 25, as the date for Clear-
field citizens to clean up their premises and place Clearfield in a spick
and span condition. On or before that
date every citizen should clean up
his or her premises, removing and
disposing of everything that would
have a tendency to make the premises look unsightly or in any way
would become unsanitary or create
any unhealthful condition. Clearfield
has earned the reputation of being
one of the healthiest towns in the
state, due in part to the earnest efforts of its citizens to make it so.

Remember the day and the date and
your duty as a good citizen.

After the date set for the general
cleanup up any condition in the borough found unsanitary will immediately be declared a nuisance and corrected by the proper authorities at the expense of the maintainer, in addition
to fines and costs imposed in such cases.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back
hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat
regularly can make a mistake by
flushing the kidneys occasionally,
says a well-known authority. Meat
forms uric acid which clogs the
kidney pores so they sluggishly filter
or strain only part of the waste and
poisons from the blood, then you get
sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness,
bladder disorders comes from sluggish
kidneys.

The moment you feel dull ache in
the kidneys or your back hurts, or if
the urine is cloudy, offensive, full
of sediment, irregular of passage or
attended by a sensation of scalding,
get about four ounces of Jad Salts
from any reliable pharmacy and take
a tablespoonful in a glass of water
before breakfast for a few days and
your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid o-
grapes and lemon juice, combined
with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and
stimulate them to activity, also to
neutralize the acids in urine so it
no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-
not injure; makes a delightful effe-
scent lithia-water drink which all
regular meat eaters should take now
and then to keep the kidneys clean
and the blood pure, thereby avoiding
serious kidney complications.

"Excuse Me."

With a record of nine months at the Gaiety Theatre in New York, and having every feature which caused it to be hailed at the best farce theatre, "Excuse Me", the Rupert Hughes play which has the subtitle of "A Pullman Carnival," comes to the New Opera house, Friday, April 24, for one night only. As a play "Excuse Me" has given to Rupert Hughes an eminence as a writer of farce that is shared by no contemporary playwright. It is emphatically a novelty. Throughout its action there is not one instance of mistaken identity, no male person is required to masquerade in feminine garments, and none of the other age-old and now tiresome rules for provoking laughter in this sort of play has been observed. The subtitle is aptly descriptive.

Mr. Hughes has taken a score and a half persons from everyday American life, placed them aboard a Pullman sleeper on an Overland flyer bound from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, and let things happen. And the things that happen, while they are perfectly logical in their origin and their sequence, keep up laughter for three acts. There are a score of contrasting types in the Pullman's passenger roster and every one is interesting because of himself as well as because of his relation to his fellows. The action of the play is rapid and changeable. The fact that it kept New Yorkers laughing for nine consecutive months is a good argument as to its merits, to which can be added the runs of six months in Chicago, and four months in Boston. WOMEN REFUGEES

Outbreak There.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—With eighty-three American refugees, mostly women and children, on board the steamship Esperanza of the Ward line, which has been chartered by the United States government, it is expected that the number will be greatly augmented upon the arrival of trains from the City of Mexico and other inland points where conditions are such in the present crisis that American lives may be imperiled.

In this city there are about 200 Americans, although ordinarily there are seldom more than fifty. Most of those now here came so as to be in a position to obtain refuge on board steamships in case of serious disturbances or an outbreak against Americans. In the City of Mexico there are more than 700 and about 400 at Guadalupe.

According to the meager news dispatches received here from the City of Mexico, the Americans there are not greatly perturbed by the prospects of a clash between the two countries, and only a few of the men are making final preparations to flee. The women, though, appear desirous of getting away.

The Americans there have a feeling of security. The fact that General Huerta has issued strict orders against any unfriendly act toward Americans has strengthened the feeling of security. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has, however, as a result of orders received from Washington instructed the Americans of the advisability of leaving.

SOME PETTY THIEVING HERE

Extra Patrolmen Would Relieve Regular Force and Enable the Latter to Put an End to the Invasion of the Town by Insolent Tramps, a Menace to Women.

Barring a murder now and then,
Clearfield is a quiet, peaceful town.
The citizens, as a rule, are inclined to attend to their own business. But it cannot be expected that this condition will continue through the summer as indications point to the visitation of numerous tramps as soon as the warm weather makes it debut.
Already a number of the army of unemployed have made Clearfield their objective point, making their rendezvous at the brick yards and other places on the outskirts of town and calling on housewives for victuals,
and also several petty robberies have been reported.

Clearfield has two policemen, and the burgess is of the opinion that there should be a man placed on the streets at night to watch for these marauders.

A Menace to Women.

The tramps who come to Clearfield arrive on freight trains in the lower end of the town. They gather at the brick works and sally forth in search of food or anything, else they may pick up at hours of the day when they know the man of the house is absent.

Housewives residing north of Locust street are almost constantly annoyed by dirty, insolent hoboos, who seem to know that they will not be molested so long as they remain off the main streets of the town. Some of these tramps remain in town several days at a time, and their presence here is a menace to the women of Clearfield.

Need of Night Patrolman.

Burgess Callahan has been consid-
ing the question of asking borough council to authorize him in the near future to appoint a night patrolman,

good man who would keep watch
and guard over the property of the citizens from midnight until daylight.
It is the belief of the burgess and some councilmen that if there was a night patrolman on duty it would relieve the regular policemen of much of their labor, and especially permit them to retire earlier at night and thus give them more time in which to patrol the streets in the daytime, especially those streets the residences
of which seem to be the objective
point of the hungry hoboos.

Some Petty Thieving.

Several cases of petty thieving
have been reported, and it is expected that unless better protection is provided the homes of the citizens
there will be an epidemic of small robberies in this town this summer.

Some of this stealing is done by tramps, without a doubt, but it is believed that some of the aliens in Clearfield are implicated in some of the robberies. The night policeman, if he is the right kind of man, would be able to round up some of the thieves and thus break up the offenses and send the offenders to prison. The citizens of Clearfield are entitled to full protection from midnight thievery.

OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR

William Draper Lewis Answers
Questions in Plain Manner

HE FAVORS AN 8 HOUR DAY

Washington Party Candidate for Governor Expresses Views on Important Matters Affecting the Welfare of the Workingmen—Approves the Passage of Wage Earners Compensation Act.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Publication was given by the News-Post, an afternoon paper, to replies made by William Draper Lewis, candidate for the Washington party nomination for governor, to questions concerning the attitude of Dean Lewis upon certain problems affecting labor.

The questions were pronounced by the editor of the News-Post, which espouses the cause of organized labor. The questions asked and the answers given by Dean Lewis are as follows:

Q.—Are you in favor of the organization of labor?

A.—This is very much like asking a man whether he is in favor of wearing clothes. Under modern industrial conditions it is just as essential for the laborer to organize in order to promote his welfare as it is for him to wear clothes. It is needless for me to say that I am in favor of both organization and clothes for labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of an eight-hour law for all workers?

Favors Eight-Hour Law.
A.—I am. In this connection, however, I wish to point out two things: First, that while I am in favor of an eight-hour law, I realize, as you must realize, the necessity of putting it in to operation rapidly, but not so suddenly as to disorganize business. Second, that while the general effect of an eight-hour law—and in many instances its immediate effect—will be to increase the manufacturer's output, because shorter hours result in increased efficiency of the worker; in some cases the output may for a time be decreased. Therefore, it is highly important to protect both the manufacturer and the workman from the unfair competition of other states which permit their employees to work longer hours.

For Compensation Act.
Q.—Would a liability and compensation act approved by the State Federation of Labor, a body which represents 500,000 wage-earners, have your support?

A.—I am in hearty favor of a workmen's compensation act and have been for years. On this subject I have spoken in my public announcement as follows:

"Losses incurred through accidents and diseases in the course of operation of a business should be as other costs of production, borne by the business, not by the workman. Pennsylvania should follow other states and adopt a workmen's compensation act. For the protection of both employer and employee, the act should provide an adequate system of insurance. At present, it should not apply to farm labor or domestic service."

Would Forbid Child Labor.

Q.—Are you in favor of a law forbidding the employment of children under 16 in industry?

A.—Yes. We should provide by law for the exclusion at once of children under 16 from the hazardous employment in which many are now engaged. After a given time 16 should become the age limit. In the meantime our education facilities should be enlarged and the principle embodied in the mothers' pension act extended. I was one of those who drew the child labor act defeated by the senate in the last legislature, and also one of those who drew what is known as the Copley national child labor bill, now before congress. The subject is one of vital importance.

Workmen's Pension Act.

Q.—Are you in favor of the minimum wage?

A.—I am. I drafted the act introduced into the legislature in 1913 and have lost none of my enthusiasm for its enactment.

Q.—What is your opinion of a disabled workman's pension act?

A.—I am in favor of state insurance for aged and disabled persons.

A committee of the National Progressive Service has been working on the question of the proper standards for such legislation, which should be incorporated into such a law. The result of their labors has been placed in the hands of the legislative reference committee of the Progressive party, of which I am chairman. I believe a practical act on the subject can be drawn, and when it is it will have my hearty support."

PENNSYLVANIA ROMANCE

Story of the "Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home."

Pennsylvania's romances have not all been violent and tempestuous, although most of that series which the Sunday North American is now publishing are vivid with the glow of adventure. On April 26 will appear a story which has nothing melodramatic in it, but which is none the less fascinating. It has no tinging of romance, but it has a genuine touch of sentiment that is fully as absorbing as the pathos and tenderness without the usual distressing and disagreeable attendants.

"The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home," is the romantic story of two sweet-faced old ladies of Washington county, who waited vainly for their brother to return from the war. It is an intimate picture, full of gentleness and picturesque charm.

It is a story that is bound to be laid away in many a scrapbook in this part of the country, and copies will be hard to find after the first rush. Remember the title and date, "The Soldier Boy Who Never Came Home," in the Sunday North American April 26.

PLANS FOR FOURTH ARE PROGRESSING

Driving Park Secured For The
Two-Day Celebration

At the meeting of the executive committee having in charge the celebration of the Fourth of July, in Fire company house No. 1, Tuesday evening, matters connected with the two-day celebration were discussed. It was reported by the finance committee that satisfactory progress is being made in the collection of funds.

The Driving park has been secured for the event, and Mr. Payne, the lessee, stated that as he would have a number of horses here this summer he would arrange for horse racing on July 3 and 4 for the benefit of the managers of the celebration. A Philadelphia balloon artist will be here and give exhibitions in parachute dropping. There will be a balloon ascension and fireworks at night at the park.

Up to this time four bands of music have been engaged. Other arrangements for the big celebration were discussed and will be reported later.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Charles L. Hollick Killed on Bald Eagle Valley Road.

Stepping in front of an approaching passenger train in East Tyrone yard Monday morning about 10:20 o'clock, Charles L. Hollick, one of Tyrone's division's most capable young engineers met a tragic death. Engineer Hollick was in charge of one of the Bald Eagle Valley pushers, engaged in helping trains up the grade to Dix. While lying on the eastbound track for passenger train No. 51 to pass, Mr. Hollick crossed the main track to converse with a fellow engineer and it was on his way back to his own engine that he momentarily forgot that No. 51 was due. Death was instantaneous.

Deceased was born at Philipsburg May 26 1880, and was therefore almost 34 years of age. He was a son of John and Elizabeth Hollick. About ten years ago he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company as fireman and was promoted to extra freight engineer about two years ago. In 1905 he was united in marriage to Miss Maude B. Lukehart, who survives with two small children, Elizabeth and Thomas C. He also leaves his parents and two sisters, Mrs. John Sheriff and Miss Florence Hollick, of Philipsburg.

the Greasers who Fire From Housetops and Windows.

Special to the Progress.

Washington, April 22:— Dictator Huerta has asked for the recall of Charge d' Affaires O'Shaughnessy and his aides at Mexico City.

This announcement was made by a high government official this morning. The state department withheld comment on the announcement and did not indicate whether it would hand Senor Algara, the Mexican in charge here, his passports.

The demand for the recall of the envoy under such critical conditions as now prevail is practically equivalent to a declaration of war.

Full Power to Act.

President Wilson has been given full power to use the forces of United States in compelling Victoriano Huerta to make amends for insults to the American flag.

The final step in conferring authority was taken at 10:29 A. M. today when the house concurred in the resolution passed by the senate this morning after an all night session.

Vera Cruz Captured.

Vera Cruz, April 22.— American marines and sailors from the fleet of Rear Admiral Fletcher yesterday captured Vera Cruz. In the battle for possession of the city, four United States sailors were killed and about 20 wounded. The Mexicans lost 200 in killed and many in wounded and captured.

Firing began shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and at this writing is still continuing, in desultory fashion.

Machine Guns Used.

The main body of the Mexicans evacuated the barracks during the afternoon and retreated to the west.

The Americans had machine guns at all street intersections and raked the thoroughfares with the fire. Mexican soldiers and civilians on housetops and in windows responded.

The Prairie aided in the repulse of the Mexicans with the fire of her small-calibre guns.

The Dead.

GEORGE POINSETT, seaman, battleship Florida, Philadelphia.

JOHN SHOEMAKER, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DANIEL A. HAGGERTY, corporal, battleship Florida, Cambridge, Mass. Name of fourth man could not be learned.

The Wounded.

C. L. LEAHY, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

NATHAN SCHWARTZ, seaman, battleship Florida, New York City.

C. D. CAMERON, seaman, battleship Florida, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. F. PLACE, seaman, battleship Florida, Newark, N. J.

EDWARD A. GIBBORNE, electrician, battleship Florida, Quincy, Mass.

D. D. McMILLAN, private, Second Marine regiment.

Maas Refuses Surrender.

Shortly after, word was sent again to General Gustavo Maas, commander of the Mexican troops, that unless resistance ceased, the big guns of the fleet would open fire and that then

the loss of life among his men would be terrific.

General Maas replied that compliance with the demand was impossible and asked the consul for a personal parley.

At 12:30 o'clock, however, the Federal garrison of 800 left the barracks and was scattered around the central portions of the city, on roofs, in second-story windows and streets intersections. Shortly after, firing began.

Citizens Aided Troops.

Americans were posted at all corners, working machine guns up the streets incessantly and taking "pot shots" at persons on the roofs. The Mexicans were being aided by citizens, who, hiding in their houses, shot from between blinds at the Americans.

The first American to be wounded was brought to the terminal station at 1 o'clock.

Ammunition Seized.

Information that President Huerta was counting on receiving from the steamship Ypiranga, of the Hamburg-American Line, which was due to arrive Tuesday, a consignment of ammunition, rifles and machine guns, was responsible for the occupation of the custom house somewhat earlier than might otherwise have been the case. The Ypiranga is still outside the harbor. She has on board, among other supplies, 10,000 rifles and 15,000,000 cartridges.

President Huerta has been making every effort to safeguard this consignment, and had given orders that it be unloaded and immediately placed on a special train drawn by two locomotives and rushed to the capital.

First Order for War.

Washington, April 22.—The first order for war with Mexico was sent to Admiral Fletcher, in command of the American ships off Vera Cruz. Anticipating the arrival of a Hamburg-American vessel with 15,000 rifles and 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition aboard for Huerta, President Wilson ordered the commanding officer at Vera Cruz to prevent the Mexican forces getting their hands on the munitions of war. Therefore the custom house was seized. Tired and without patience at the delay and ordering of congress over the Flood resolution directing the president to use the armed forces of the nation to compel Huerta to respect the American flag, President Wilson, exercising his constitutional right, sent the orders to the commanding officer at the Mexican port.

It is against the international law to stop a vessel entering a port where a blockade does not exist. Therefore, as there was no blockade at Vera Cruz, it remained for the commanding officer to permit the vessel to enter the port and then take steps to prevent Huerta obtaining the munitions of war. Seizure of the custom house was the only course open to him.

Huerta Shows Teeth.

Huerta on learning of the intention of President Wilson to stop his shipment of arms showed his teeth for the first time. He ordered his local commanding officer at Vera Cruz, General Maas, to station armed forces with machine guns on the islands near the harbor at Vera Cruz and resist any attempt to land American forces. Evidently expected a clash between American marines and Huerta's troops.

Railroad Bridge the Object.

The first object after the landing of American marines was to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz. This is the key to the route to the capital.

Secretary Daniels, Rear Admiral Victor Blue, his chief counselor at the present time; Secretary of State Bryan and Boaz Long, head of the state department bureau of Latin-American affairs, were in almost constant communication all morning. They were concerned with the big shipment of arms and ammunition known to have reached Vera Cruz harbor.

The reason for this haste was made very plain by the admission that a large consignment of field artillery and ammunition is expected to be landed at Vera Cruz, consigned to Huerta at Mexico City.

Artillery From Germany.

This ammunition and the artillery come from Germany, and it is stated that the artillery is of the best modern type, which might prove of great help to Huerta should an expedition be sent against him.

Unless the president is authorized to act and announces that a blockade is in effect there is no way in which this ammunition and these field guns can be kept from Huerta's hands.

Huerta Always Defiant.

It is held by many members of congress that the president has overemphasized Huerta and underemphasized outrages against Americans. The president's slogan, "Huerta must go!" met with no popular shout of approval. Huerta has loomed up at all times in his defiance of the United States and has forced much hostile sympathy for his stand. Some members of congress insist that had the executive seized on the Vergara incident and demanded the right to use the army and navy to avenge that and previous murders and outrages there could have been no quibbling. But making Huerta the chief object of reprisals could not force unanimous support from congress.

Activity of Army and Navy.

Meanwhile the activity at army and navy headquarters continues. Secretary of the Navy Daniels was in touch with Admiral Badger's fleet and was keeping the admiral posted on the developments here. However, he made public no orders, and it was stated none would be published until after action had actually been taken. An embargo has been laid on the wireless of the battleships speeding south. While they can report their position no word will be permitted to be sent of any action that may take place until that action is completed.

It is explained that when the embargo is placed on Mexican ports it will not be announced publicly until all the nations of the world through their diplomatic representatives here are informed of the action and asked to have their commerce respect it.

MINES ARE PLACED IN HARBOR AT TAMPICO

Warnings From London Are Sent to Admiral Mayo.

Washington, April 22.—Warnings were received here from London that the harbor at Tampico had been filled with mines by Huerta's forces for the purpose of blowing up the American battleships should they attempt to enter the port. The warnings were at once communicated to Admiral Mayo, who is in command there pending the arrival of the Atlantic fleet under Admiral Badger. Extreme precaution will be exercised to prevent harm befalling an American vessel.

Everything at Tampico is reported calm pending the arrival of the fleet, which is speeding southward under full speed.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—General Huerta had his local commander, General Gustavo Maas, post strong forces with machine guns on the islands before the city. They are under orders to resist to the last ditch the landing of the American marines.

This order from Huerta came upon the heels of directions to the navy to land marines to hold the railroad bridge just west of Vera Cruz, which is considered a key position on the route to the capital. Huerta planned fight as soon as he heard of the order, and the directions to General Maas immediately followed.

So rapid was the compliance with the order from Huerta that the commander of the port sent in boats under the cover of darkness the major portion of the troops recently brought here from the capital out to the islands. They went in the early morning hours, taking along the machine guns and much ammunition.

Closest Ever.

They were discussing horse racing. "I guess," observed the Yankee, "I've seen the closest race ever run, for I once saw a horse adjudged winner by a tongue's length."

"Is that so," drawled the Englishman. "Well, I've seen a closer race than that. I lived two years in Scotland."—Cleveland Leader.

GREAT GROWTH OF A.M.E. CHURCH

Thousands of Churches And Million Adherents

OPENING OF THE CONFERENCE

Pittsburg Body in Session in West Side M. E. church—Judge Bell and Mayor Callahan Welcome Delegates to Clearfield—Dr. Scott's Plan for Justice for the Negro.

The 24th annual session of the Pittsburgh district conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church opened Tuesday afternoon in the West Side M. E. church. The A. M. E. church, of which Rev. A. Q. Norton is pastor, has been undergoing extensive repairs and was not in condition to entertain the conference. The trustees of the West Side M. E. church gladly gave their edifice for the conference sessions, under the circumstances.

Rev. T. J. Askew, D. D., of Pittsburgh, district superintendent, presided. Almost all of the churches in the district were represented at the opening meeting, and many visitors were present from Curwensville and other nearby towns.

Considerable preliminary business, including the appointment of committees and reports from churches, was carried out at the afternoon session.

Church's Great Growth.

The evening session commenced with a half-hour of song, conducted by Rev. D. H. Brown and Rev. A. E. Moore.

In his opening remarks, Rev. Askew told of the remarkable growth of the A. M. E. church. There are organizations in every state, with thousands of churches, several missionary bishops, and one million adherents.

Robert Callahan, mayor of the city of Clearfield, was introduced, and made a hearty address of welcome, extending the keys of the city to the visitors. Rev. G. T. Smith, D. D., of Scranton, formerly a pastor at this place, responded.

Judge Singleton Bell was next introduced and made an impressive address, assuring the visitors that he was greatly interested in their advancement.

An Eloquent Address.

The Rev. Dr. H. B. Bender, of Trinity, was next introduced, and spoke feelingly of his regard for the colored men and women who were struggling so heroically for the moral and spiritual advancement of their race.

Rev. P. A. Scott, D. D., of Pittsburgh, one of the really big men of the conference, responded, and in simple, eloquent words thanked the visitors for their words of welcome. In listening to Dr. Scott there came to those who were present a realization of the changed conditions of the last century.

Dr. Scott, a man of strong personality and fine appearance, told of how he had stood at the foot of the auction block when his mother was sold to the highest bidder, while he himself was a slave.

Appeal to Mothers.

"Don't teach your children to dislike us," said Dr. Scott, to the mothers who were present, "don't tell them that the 'big black man' or the 'nigger' will get them if they are naughty."

Responses were made from the laity of the church. Rev. Norton, pastor of the local church, told the visitors that it was a pleasure to welcome them to Clearfield, a beautiful, historic and progressive town.

A strong sermon was preached by Rev. C. J. Powell, D. D., of Williamsport, this being followed by an impressive altar service in charge of Dr. Scott.

After the adjournment of this session, the visitors were invited to the church basement, where the ladies had prepared an excellent luncheon.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions are being held today. Tonight's session commences at 7:30. Conference will adjourn Friday evening.

Seized With a Stroke.

Mrs. Middleton, of Philipsburg, who has been helping care for her sister, Mrs. E. M. Shaw, was seized with a stroke Sunday.

BEGGING FOR AID.

In a number of the 'congressional
districts of this state the followers
of Penrose advance the proposition
that as the Washington party cannot
hope to elect its own candidates it
should support the Penrose candidates. Quite logical, from the standpoint of the Penrose machine. These
champions of special privilege seem
to forget that the Washington party
was the outgrowth of antagonism to
the Penrose machine and that the Washington party bases its claim for
support upon the fact that its principles are wholly different from the
principles of the Republican party.
The Republican papers proclaim in
big letters what they are pleased to
state is the falling away of the Washington party vote. But the wish is
father to the thought with the Pen-
rose followers. They would be pleased if what they so blatantly assert
might prove true, but because they
know they are telling falsehoods they
stand with the Washington party to
abandon its principles and refrain
from entering the congressional contests. These Penrose machine leaders are anxious to have members of
the Washington party vote for Republican congressional candidates, but
are not willing to acknowledge that
the Washington party is a factor with
which the Republican party must
contend this year.

No Washington party voter is so
dull of comprehension or so lost to
a sense of duty as to be beguiled in-
to believing that Penroseism is a
good thing for the state or persuaded into supporting Penrose's candidates for congress. It is the intention of the Washington party to place candidates for congress in all of the
districts of the state, and these candidates will be men who will fight Pen-
roseism and special privilege upon every opportunity. And not until the Washington party has swept every
vestige of the corrupt influences of Penroseism from the commonwealth
will it feel that it has performed its
duty toward the people of Pennsylvania.

KEEP CITIZENS AT HOME.

Last year the Fourth of July was
a very quiet day in Clearfield. There
was no celebration here, and hundreds
of citizens went to other towns to
spend the day and witness celebrations. Many of these people were greatly disappointed because in the
other towns there was very little
amusement. These disappointed citizens declared that it was a shame
that Clearfield did not possess patriotism and enterprise enough to celebrate the Fourth in an appropriate
manner.

This year the firemen determined
that they would provide amusements
of such a splendid character that no
citizen would have an excuse for going elsewhere on the Fourth. Already enough is known of the plans
of the firemen's committee who
entered into the project to know
that the Fourth of July celebration
this year will exceed in number and
variety of attractions anything ever
produced in any town in this section
of the state. In this purpose the various committees should have the cooperation of every citizen of Clear-

The United States senate should
not permit the Mexican incident to
cause it to forget its most important
business of defeating President Wilson's pet scheme to turn over the
Panama canal to Great Britain

It is announced that all hotel doors
must open outwards, but whether for
the greater safety of guests or to enable bartenders to more readily throw
out obstreperous patrons is not stated.

The first thing the taxpayers think
of when they hear of a murder is the
expense that will be saddled on the
county in trying the alleged murder-
ers.

Every time a good and useful citizen dies you look around and see a
score of cumberers of the earth who
might have been more readily spared.

A whole lot of would-be heroes
are always ready to appropriate to
themselves the credit which belongs
to others for performing a brave act

After cleanup day the law prohib-
iting the throwing of paper and other
rubbish into streets should be enforced.

For this postponement of garden
making the man with a "misery in
his back" is profoundly thankful.

The seed catalogues will have to
be revised to suit the changeable
weather of such springs as this.

Spring is here, sure enough. The
frogs have begun to sing their bac-
chanalian songs of a night

The sheriff's office sure does contain two officers who know their dut
and are not afraid to perform it.

Indications point to even a greater
split in the ranks of the local Democracy.

CLEANUP DAY

Board of Health Issues Notice to the Clearfield Citizens.

The Board of Health has set Saturday, April 25, as the date for Clear-
field citizens to clean up their premises and place Clearfield in a spick
and span condition. On or before that
date every citizen should clean up
his or her premises, removing and
disposing of everything that would
have a tendency to make the premises look unsightly or in any way
would become unsanitary or create
any unhealthful condition. Clearfield
has earned the reputation of being
one of the healthiest towns in the
state, due in part to the earnest efforts of its citizens to make it so.
Remember the day and the date and
your duty as a good citizen

After the date set for the general
clean up any condition in the borough found unsanitary will immediately be declared a nuisance and corrected by the proper authorities at the expense of the maintainer, in addition
to fines and costs imposed in such

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back
hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat
regularly can make a mistake by
flushing the kidneys occasionally,
says a well-known authority. Meat
forms uric acid which clogs the
kidney pores so they sluggishly filter
or strain only part of the waste and
poisons from the blood, then you get
sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness,
bladder disorders comes from sluggish
kidneys

The moment you feel dull ache in
the kidneys or your back hurts, or if
the urine is cloudy, offensive, full
of sediment, irregular of passage or
attended by a sensation of scalding,
get about four ounces of Jad Salts
from any reliable pharmacy and take
a tablespoonful in a glass of water
before breakfast for a few days and
your kidneys will then act fine. This
famous salts is made from the acid o
grapes and lemon juice, combined
with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and
stimulate them to activity, also to
neutralize the acids in urine so it
no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-
not injure; makes a delightful effe-
rescent lithia-water drink which all
regular meat eaters should take now
and then to keep the kidneys clean
and the blood pure, thereby avoiding
serious kidney complications.

"Excuse Me."

With a record of nine months at the Gaiety Theatre in New York, and having every feature which caused it to be hailed at the best farce theatres had been offered in years, "Excuse Me", the Rupert Hughes play which has the subtitle of "A Pullman Carnival," comes to the New Opera house, Friday, April 24, for one night only. As a play "Excuse Me" has given to Rupert Hughes an eminence as a writer of farce that is shared by no contemporary playwright. It is emphatically a novelty. Throughout its action there is not one instance of mistaken identity, no male person is required to masquerade in feminine garments, and none of the other age-old and now tiresome rules for provoking laughter in this sort of play has been observed. The subtitle is aptly descriptive.

Mr. Hughes has taken a score and a half persons from everyday American life, placed them aboard a Pullman sleeper on an Overland flyer bound from Chicago to the Pacific Coast, and let things happen. And the things that happen, while they are perfectly logical in their origin and their sequence, keep up laughter for three acts. There are a score of contrasting types in the Pullman's passenger roster and every one is interesting because of himself as well as because of his relation to his fellows. The action of the play is rapid and changeable. The fact that it kept New Yorkers laughing for nine consecutive months is a good argument as to its merits, to which can be added the runs of six months in Chicago, and four months in Boston. Mail orders with money enclosed received now and filled in the order they are received.

SAFE AT VERA CRUZ

Outbreak There.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—With eighty three American refugees, mostly women and children, on board the steamship Esperanza of the Ward line which has been chartered by the United States government, it is expected that the number will be greatly augmented upon the arrival of refugees from the City of Mexico and other inland points where conditions are such in the present crisis that American lives may be imperiled.

In this city there are about 200 Americans, although ordinarily there are seldom more than fifty. Most of those now here came so as to be in a position to obtain refuge on board steamships in case of serious disturbances or an outbreak against Americans. In the City of Mexico there are more than 700 and about 400 at Guadalupe.

According to the meager news dispatches received here from the City of Mexico the Americans there are not greatly perturbed by the prospects of a clash between the two countries, and only a few of the men are making final preparations to flee. The women, though, appear desirous of getting away.

The Americans there have a feeling of security. The fact that General Huerta has issued strict orders against any unfriendly act toward Americans has strengthened the feeling of security. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has, however, as a result of orders received from Washington instructed the Americans of the advisability of leaving.

SOME PETTY THEIVING HERE

Extra Patrolmen Would Relieve Regular Force and Enable the Latter to Put an End to the Invasion of the Town by Insolent Tramps, a Menace to Women.

Barring a murder now and then, Clearfield is a quiet, peaceful town. The citizens, as a rule, are inclined to attend to their own business. But it cannot be expected that this condition will continue through the summer as indications point to the visitation of numerous tramps as soon as the warm weather makes it debatable. Already a number of the army of unemployed have made Clearfield their objective point, making their rendezvous at the brick yards and other places on the outskirts of town and calling on housewives for victuals, and also several petty robberies have been reported.

Clearfield has two policemen, and the burgess is of the opinion that there should be a man placed on the streets at night to watch for these marauders.

A Menace to Women.

The tramps who come to Clearfield arrive on freight trains in the lower end of the town. They gather at the brick works and sally forth in search of food or anything else they may pick up at hours of the day when they know the man of the house is absent.

Housewives residing north of Locust street are almost constantly annoyed by dirty, insolent hoboes, who seem to know that they will not be molested so long as they remain off the main streets of the town. Some of these tramps remain in town several days at a time, and their presence here is a menace to the women of Clearfield.

Need of Night Patrolman.

Burgess Callahan has been considering the question of asking borough council to authorize him in the near future to appoint a night patrolman,

good man who would keep watch and guard over the property of the citizens from midnight until daylight. It is the belief of the burgess and some councilmen that if there was a night patrolman on duty it would relieve the regular policemen of much of their labor, and especially permit them to retire earlier at night and thus give them more time in which to patrol the streets in the daytime, especially those streets the residences of which seem to be the objective point of the hungry hoboes.

Some Petty Thieving.

Several cases of petty thieving have been reported, and it is expected that unless better protection is provided the homes of the citizens there will be an epidemic of small robberies in this town this summer. Some of this stealing is done by tramps, without a doubt, but it is believed that some of the aliens in Clearfield are implicated in some of the robberies. The night policeman, if he is the right kind of man, would be able to round up some of the thieves and thus break up the offenses and send the offenders to prison. The citizens of Clearfield are entitled to full protection from midnight thievery.

This warm spring weather is making everything beautiful. The grass is beginning to show green, the buds are breaking on the trees and the robins and blue birds sing their sweet melodies through the day, while the little frogs bring in their share of the concert in the evenings.

Amos Read and family spent Saturday evening at the home of W. R. Hummel, in Clearfield. Friday was Mr. Read's birthday and Saturday was Miss Almeda Hummel's. The two families celebrated the two birthdays together and a very pleasant evening was spent and a fine supper served.
